Please do not restrict XM's ability to provide a valuable service to customers who choose not to listen to the mundane corporate radio stations in my area. I prefer XM because it offers what I want to hear. My local stations don't do that. Why should I be forced to tune into a local channel that I would never normally listen to just because I want to hear a traffic report? XM provides it to me in a way I like. Please do not limit their service because stations are losing listeners due to their lack of concern over what their customers want. XM is worth paying for - that's how bad local radio is.
